

The OAA is sponsoring an email listgroup.

This will be a useful discussion forum for a variety of topics.

Angela Pfaffenberger LAc has agreed to moderate this group. Thank you Angela!

In order to join a yahoo group you need to create a yahoo account/identity at their site. Emails will only be posted to the group if they are sent from the email address that you are using at the time of registration. After you get a yahoo account, you can go to the site using this link and click on "Join this group."

You can post as soon as your membership is approved, which should usually happen within 24 hours.

This group is for professional practitioners of Oriental medicine in the State of Oregon , as well as for students and practitioners interested in working in Oregon . All topics of conversations are welcome, including clinical questions, practice management, education, or legal concerns. The group is affiliated with OAA and will serve the goals of the organization.

Products and services can be announced by members once. If you are not a member of the group and would like to announce a product or service, please contact the moderator at angela.pf@netzero.com
Spammers will be banned from the group after one warning.

For all questions and concerns, please feel free to contact the moderator at any time:
